Quirky bun throwing to make 2016 comeback for Queen

By Alex Ballinger

ABINGDON will host its historic bun throwing tradition alongside a street party to celebrate the Queen's 90th birthday next year.

Councillors last week voted in favour of hosting the unusual 250-year-old custom four years after the last bun throwing.

An exhibition on the history of the tradition – including photos, videos and famous buns - will also be held in the Abingdon County Hall Museum from April until June.

Town councillor and chair of the museum management committee, Monica Lovatt, was Mayor of Abingdon when the bun throwing was last held for the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in 2012.

She said: "The importance is it's a unique event. I don't think it happens anywhere else in the country. People love it.

"It's a fabulous way to pay tribute to the Queen."

It sees thousands of buns launched from the roof of County Hall in Market Square.

The tradition dates back to the coronation of King George III in 1761 and since then the town has held the event to mark royal occasions.

A bun throwing was also held in 2011 to mark the royal wedding between Prince William and Kate Middleton.

Museum curator Jane Bowen said: "The exhibition will include film and photographs of previous bun throwings. and some dried buns preserved from some earlier events, of which the oldest are over 100 years old."

Plans to double Oxford raised by Government

By Loughlan Campbell

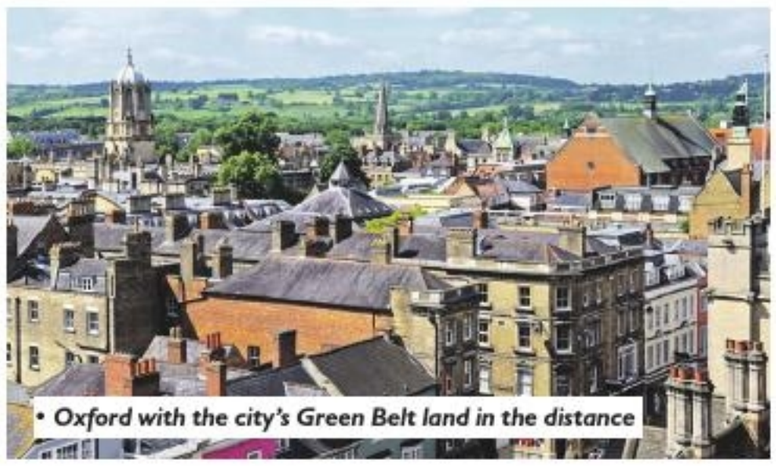
OXFORD could double in size, with homes to be built on the city's Green Belt, according to Lord Adonis, the new head of Chancellor George Osborne's planning commission.

Lord Adonis, who was announced as chairman of the National Infrastructure Commission on Monday, laid out his plans for housing across the country in an article to Prospect Magazine ahead of his appointment in which he called for 'bold state action' to be taken in building houses on Green Belt land.

The University of Oxford graduate echoed the views of Chancellor Osborne, who called for infrastructure and housing to be built on Green Belt land in his keynote speech at the Conservative Party Conference in Manchester on Monday.



• Oxford with the city's Green Belt land in the distance

The Chancellor said in his speech: "I'm not prepared to turn round to my children – or indeed anyone else's child – and say: 'I'm sorry, we didn't build for you.'"

Lord Adonis said: "Local authorities in areas of housing shortage should be required by the state once again to become developers and place makers.

"[Urban designer] Daniel Rudlin proposed doubling the size of 40 towns and cities with good existing infrastructure and public transport connections which could be further enhanced, including Oxford."

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price, said: "Adonis knows the situation of our city and how it's an economic dynamo for the country. He knows our housing situation needs sorting out sooner rather than later.

"We're happy that he's providing support for Oxford's economic growth."

Cllr Price also confirmed that Oxford City Council have been in discussions with Oxfordshire's district councils, Oxfordshire County Council and contractors to examine where housing could be provided.

Cllr Price added: "It's important from our point of view that we look at the potential for parts of the Green Belt that could be released for urban extensions."

Only 267 houses were built in Oxford between last April and this April, and only 17 houses were built the previous year.

Helen Marshall, director of CPRE Oxfordshire, said: "It's a completely ridiculous idea to build homes on the Green Belt and contradicts all the promises that George Osborne made in the lead up to the election.

"It might be the easier option to fix the housing crisis, but that doesn't make it the right one."

Tributes paid to U's player's brother

THE family of Oxford United's James Roberts paid tribute to his younger brother Ben on Tuesday, who died in a car crash in Buckinghamshire on Saturday night.

The 16-year-old former pupil of John Colet School in Wendover (pictured) had just started a public services course at Aylesbury College.

His family said: "Ben was the perfect friend, perfect brother and the perfect son.

"Full of love, energy happiness and life.

"He loved being with his family, cooking, eating and watching bad films.

"No words can describe our loss; the void that has been left will never be filled.

"Rest in peace Ben, we love you so so very much."

United forward James, 19, is on loan at Chester and both clubs have said they will allow him as much time as he needs before he returns to playing football.

A statement from Oxford United said: "The thoughts of everyone are with James Roberts and his family.

"The club offers it sincerest condolences to the Roberts family and will hold a minute's silence before the game at home to Wimbledon on Saturday."

Chester and Oxford United have asked supporters to respect the Roberts family's privacy at this time.

News Bites

Company fined

OXFORD: A local business has been fined nearly £15,000 after allowing people to sleep on the floor of the property despite being told of the fire risk posed.

Le Casse Croute Limited in Park End Street and its manager were tried in absence at Oxford Magistrates' Court on Monday with ten charges for five combined offences.

Charges included failures to comply with a prohibition notice, failures to provide an adequate fire alarm and failure to provide a safe means of escape.

Botley burglary

OXFORD: Money, bankcards and jewellery were stolen when burglars forced entry to a house in Arnold's Way on Friday October 2.

Between 6.15pm and 6.55pm offenders broke in by forcing open a patio door.

Investigating officer sergeant Mark Allmond said: "This is a busy road and whilst people would have been returning home from work they may have witnessed a suspicious person or vehicles in the area on the evening or prior to the offence."

Police complaints

OXON: The number of complaints against Thames Valley Police has risen by 25 per cent in the last year.

The police service received 1,305 complaints for the year 2014 to 2015 according to statistics released by the International Police Complaints Commission yesterday.

The service previously received 1,043 comments from 2013 to 2014 and the newly released figures are also a 37 per cent increase on figures from 2012 to 2013 with only 954 complaints recorded for that year.

Man jailed for lying after running red light

A MAN was sentenced to 15-months in prison on Friday for perverting the court of justice in an attempt to avoid a minor road traffic offence.

Dean Ratcliffe of Sorrel Road in Oxford was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court after pleading guilty to the charge on April 21.

Ratcliffe was caught running a red light by a traffic camera in Headington Road on March 28 2014 in a Vauxhall Zafira.

The following day he falsely reported to police that his number plate had been stolen and claimed his car was parked at his home address when the traffic offence occurred.

In June 2014 police compared pictures of the offending vehicle to Ratcliffe's and it seemed that he had attempted to change the appearance of his car.

Then in July 2014 Ratcliffe was interviewed by police and denied changing the appearance of his car to avoid the traffic offence and said he had purchased new number plates after reporting the theft to police.

However, there was no evidence this purchase took place.

Ratcliffe was summonsed to Oxford Magistrates' Court on November 28 2014 where he was transferred to Oxford Crown Court.

Investigating officer PC Carl Lewis said: "I hope this sentence will deter others from trying to deceive the police following requests for driver information."

Soggy revellers enjoy the Michaelmas Fair

By Alex Ballinger

THOUSANDS of brave fans of fairground rides and festivities braved downpours on Monday and Tuesday to enjoy Abingdon's Michaelmas Fair.

The fair, which dates back to Medieval times, saw Market Square and Ock Street filled with rides and attractions.

Abingdon resident Alex Perry was visiting the fair on Monday with his three-year-old-son.

He said: "I've been coming here for about 15 years. It's fantastic for children.

"He loved it tonight, not so much last year but he's old enough to enjoy it now."

Mr Perry, who lives in Francis Little Drive, added: "I think his favourite ride was the pirate ship. I thought he might be too small to go on but they let them on."

The Michaelmas Fair dates back to the 14th Century and was a hiring fair where farmworkers would try to find work in the local area.

Since it has developed to claim the title of the longest street fair in Europe, stretching for a mile from Market Place, down Ock Street and ending at the double roundabout by Marcham Road.

Abingdon resident Patrick Irwin said: "We come here every year, we've been coming for about three years. The dodgems are always a highlight.

"It is good fun, but it's a bit damp and a bit wet."

Thames Valley Police officer, PC Ben Cox, based at Abingdon Police Station, said: "A fair few people have turned out this year. It brings people from all over Oxfordshire to Abingdon. It's a good thing for the town.

"We've had a few problems in past years but this year has been all good.

"That's why we're here: to make sure families can enjoy the fair and keep it that way."

Leader of Abingdon Town Council, Sandy Lovatt, said: "It's an excellent fair. It's a great part of the overall plan to bring people to Abingdon."

Drivers through Abingdon faced long delays as roads near the town centre were closed from Sunday night until they reopened at 9am yesterday.

BID vote open

ABINGDON: Town centre business owners can vote on whether to create an Abingdon 'Business Improvement District' until October 29.

The scheme would see businesses pay an annual levy to raise £800,000 over five years to invest in business-boosting projects for the town.

Ballots were posted out when the vote opened on Friday.

Bike crash injury

ABINGDON: A 17-year-old boy was taken to hospital with head injuries after colliding with a car as he cycled in south Abingdon last week.

He was pedaling towards Baker Road when he crashed with a Skoda Octavia estate travelling along Preston Road towards the river at about 9.15pm on Wednesday night.

Passers-by helped the boy until paramedics arrived and took him to the John Radcliffe Hospital. The 70-year-old driver was not injured.

Police are asking for witnesses to call 101.

New gym plans

ABINGDON: Plans for a new 24-hour gym near Fairacres Retail Park have been unveiled.

A planning application was submitted to Vale of White Horse District Council by international chain Anytime Fitness on September 23.

The site in Kimber Road is an empty office. Anytime Fitness operate 2,300 gyms worldwide.

Peculiar town tradition to return in June

• From front page

Ms Bowen added: "Bun throwing from the County Hall in Abingdon is a longstanding and very unusual tradition.

"Its origins are not clear, although it is thought that the idea of distributing currant buns or spiced fruit buns to everyone was an expression of the wealth and importance of the town."

Throwing Buns cafe in Market Place is named after the tradition.

The café's owner Richard Mackay said: "It's good to celebrate the Queen's birthday and it's good for the town. It's something we've done for a long time; hundreds of years.

"It's a bit of a way off but we're starting planning. We'll have a celebratory cake and do something special."

Around 6,000 buns were thrown during the 2012 occasion as a crowd of thousands gathered in Market Place to see the event.

Abingdon Town Council agreed a last Wednesday it will take place during the Queen's official birthday on the weekend of June 11 or 12, and the exhibition is due to open on April 19.

New recycling competition launched in Oxford city

RESIDENTS of Oxford can win prizes for themselves and their communities thanks to a new competition launched by Oxford City Council on Monday.

The council has received £350,000 from government to run the Blue Bin Recycling League over the next three years.

The league will split the city into eight areas and will offer £400 to a local charity or community group and a prize worth more than £30 to two residents each month.

Councillor John Tanner, board member for Cleaner, Greener Oxford, said: "I hope everyone will get involved in the Blue Bin Recycling League.

"It will be a bit of fun, help good causes and boost Oxford's recycling rates – but you've got to bin it to win it."

Residents from the winning area can then vote for a group to get the £400.

Jury inquest starts for Headington teenager

By Loughlan Campbell

THE mum of an Oxford teenager who drowned in a bath at a Headington care unit described her son as someone 'who always loved basking in the sunshine' as an inquest into his death opened on Monday

Connor Sparrowhawk, 18, of Wharton Road in Headington, was found unconscious at NHS assessment and treatment unit, Slade House in Headington by staff in May 2013.

He had Klinefelter's syndrome and epilepsy.

At the inquest in Oxford Coroner's Court in New Road on Monday a post-mortem report revealed he drowned in the bath after having an epileptic seizure.

Connor, who was a student at John Watson School in Wheatley, was diagnosed with epilepsy at 16.

Ben Phillips, a consultant pathologist said in his post mortem report Connor had died from drowning due to epilepsy associated with Klinefelter's syndrome.

His mum Sara Ryan told the court: "Connor was quirky, loving, funny and loved off the planet by his family. He was someone that always loved basking in the sunshine and asking questions.

"When he contracted epilepsy, we told him that everybody had something, or they would do at some point, to reassure him."

Dr Ryan told the court Connor's behavior began to worsen following his diagnosis of epilepsy and that he became more 'aggressive' and punched his teacher in the face.

Connor was taking painkillers and antidepressants at the time of his death.

On the morning of the incident, the jury heard Connor went into to the bath at 8.15am, and staff checked on him every 15 minutes.

A statement from one of the unit's support workers, Lenka Mullerova, said at 9.15am, fellow support worker Maxine Hemmings went to check in on Connor and shouted for help.

Mullerova said: "He was under the water and his face was blue."

Once Connor was taken out of the bath an ambulance was called and CPR administered by unit staff and paramedics.

He died at John Radcliffe Hospital at 10.18am.

Ahead of the inquest, the jury heard Southern Health commissioned independent consultancy Verita to conduct an independent investigation.

Verita found 22 factors accepted by Southern Health which could have prevented the death.

The inquest continues.

X-Factor band to release Children in Need song

By Alex Ballinger

AN X-FACTOR band featuring three Oxfordshire girls are set to release a cover song to aid Children in Need.

PYT stormed through the boot camp stage of ITV's singing contest on September 27, and are now headed to the show's Six-Chair Challenge stage in the coming weeks.

The girls - 17-year-old Wantage student Ebony Cantwell, 18-year-old Amy Nash from Jericho, 20-year-old Renetta Eagle from Headington, and London-based members Tonia Gigli, 21, and Naomi Mulumbala, 21- recorded a cover of Beyonce's song Rise Up last weekend, and are giving fans the opportunity to appear in the music video.

Ebony, who attends King Alfred's Academy in Wantage, said: "We heard the song a couple of weeks ago and we thought it was the perfect song and would be a great opportunity to be involved in Children in Need.

"We're trying to get as many people as we can involved.

"We are really fortunate to have music and have each other.

•PYT will next perform on the X-Factor in the coming weeks

We're a lot luckier than some people and giving back is really important to us.

"We love to sing and if we can help people with that, that's just the best feeling."

PYT are now awaiting their next X-Factor appearance under mentor Cheryl Fernandez-Versini, when they will go head-to-head with the other groups hoping to win one of the six spaces available in their group category.

Renetta, who is studying business and psychology at Aston University in Birmingham, added: "Boot camp was really tough because they let go of a lot of people. We were ecstatic to get through.

"Its scary but we're really looking forward to it."

Fans wanting to take part in the video can submit their videos to pyt@cjrmusic.co.uk by October 14 at 9am.

Police officers 'warned' in Parkinson investigation

TWO Thames Valley Police officers were given final written warnings on Friday following misconduct proceedings into the Jayden Parkinson missing person investigation.

Three officers and a member of police staff were referred to misconduct proceedings after the Independent Police Complaints Commission's (IPCC) investigation into police's response to Jayden's disappearance.

The member of staff appeared at a misconduct meeting held on September 25 and it was found they had no case to answer.

The third officer received a written warning after admitting to misconduct.

Didcot teenager Jayden (pictured), 17, went missing from a hostel in Iffley Road in Oxford on December 3.

Police launched a missing person investigation, before it was discovered she had been killed by her ex-boyfriend Ben Blakeley.

Blakeley, 23, was arrested on December 12 on suspicion of murder, and was jailed for life for a minimum of 20 years in July last year.

Deputy Superintendent Tim De Meyer, head of the police's professional standards, said: "Their conduct was found to have fallen short of standards expected and the officers were given appropriate sanctions."

Dad jailed for nine years for killing son

By Loughlan Campbell

A DAD wept as he was jailed for nine years at Oxford Crown Court on Monday for killing his 11-week-old son.

A jury cleared 22-year-old Jordan Saxton of murder but found him guilty of manslaughter.

Baby Jayden Saxton suffered 18 broken bones and brain injuries last November after being left with his dad for 85 minutes at the home they shared with Jayden's mum in Untons Place, Faringdon.

Lord Justice Rabinda Singh sentenced Saxton to nine years after a jury of six men and six women made a unanimous decision following a two-week trial.

Lord Justice Singh said in his sentencing: "Jayden Saxton was a healthy baby and brought great joy to all members of his family, including his mother Tracy Ray, and you his father."

He called Jayden's death 'a tragedy for everyone concerned', stating the cause of the death was a 'catastrophic brain injury which resulted from an incident of shaking'.

He added: "No-one but you will ever know exactly what happened that afternoon.

"On the evidence that was heard at your trial I conclude that you acted as you did in frustration at the fact you could not settle Jayden.

"It is clear from the jury's verdict that they were not sure that you acted with an intention to cause really serious harm."

The judge listed the fact that Jayden was particularly vulnerable and that Saxton had abused his position of trust as aggravating factors in his sentencing.

Chief crown prosecutor for Thames and Chiltern Crown Prosecution Service, Adrian Foster, said: "It is impossible to imagine a more vulnerable victim.

"Jordan Saxton denied causing the death of his defenceless son and offered no explanation for how he obtained his injuries."

Saxton, wearing a light blue shirt and dark blue tie, looked upset and put his head in his hands as the jury foreman read out the verdict.

The forklift truck driver, originally from Cowley in Oxford, had denied killing Jayden and said he was trying to save his son who was choking on food when he called 999 at 5.54pm on November 16.

Jayden died at Bristol Royal Hospital for Children two days later.

Senior investigating officer, Detective Chief Inspector Kevin Brown of the Major Crime Unit at Thames Valley Police, said: "Our condolences and thoughts remain with Jayden's family and loved-ones who have endured what only can be described as a living nightmare since November last year."

E-fit issued of man who touched two young girls

POLICE have released an E-fit of a man they are looking for after two girls aged under 13 were sexually assaulted in Harwell on August 28.

The offences took place at around 2.45pm at a newsagent in High Street.

The first girl was waiting outside the shop waiting for it to open with a group of other children when the offender stood behind her and touched her lower back.

The girl felt uncomfortable and moved away from the man, thinking it was an accident.

When the shop opened the man then walked past the girl inside and touched her inappropriately over her clothes.

While inside the man also touched another girl inappropriately over her clothes several times before leaving and driving off in a silver 09 plate Vauxhall Astra.

Police say the man is white, described as 'pink-faced', is 5ft 11ins tall, and of medium build.

He had short grey/brown hair and was wearing a t-shirt and blue jeans.

Investigating officer PC Simon Charlton of Abingdon CID said: "This was obviously distressing for the young girls involved. It was also very blatant behaviour by the man in the middle of a busy shop in the middle of the afternoon."

Police are asking for anyone with information to call 101.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Hi-tech help

OXFORD: Over 100 people were given a look at gadgets which could make a difference to people's lives at the 'Old is the New Young' event at Oxford Town Hall in St Aldate's.

It was held on Thursday as part of UK Older People's Day and saw a variety of 'assistive technology' on show like medication memory aids and GPS tracking devices to find missing loved ones.

Ambassador's trip

OXFORD: The US ambassador to the UK visited Oxfordshire last week and praised the city's technology and innovation.

Ambassador Matthew W. Barzun visited the city on Wednesday and met with representatives from the universities, Oxford City Council and visited the disability charity Yellow Submarine's cafe in Park End Street.

Speaking at the Said Business School in Park End Street, Ambassador Barzun said: "This was a wonderful opportunity to hear more about what is happening here in the city.

"This is happening whilst being inspired by the past, rather than imprisoned by it. I love what is happening here."

While visiting from London he also went to Oxford Brookes University's Headington campus to meet staff and students.

Charity needs help handing out warehouse full of food

By Alex Ballinger

A DIDCOT charity is calling for other groups helping vulnerable people across Oxfordshire in need of food donations to contact them for supplies from its warehouse full of groceries.

The South Oxfordshire Food and Education Academy (SOFEA) collects surplus food from supermarkets at its Trident Business Park base and hands it out to other charities working with disadvantaged people.

But it is now so successful that they cannot cope with the amount of fresh food coming in.

Charity co-founder and trustee Richard Kennell said: "There's an offer to other local charities to say 'look, this food is here and it's available to them.'

"We get between 10 to 15 pallets of fresh food a week, on top of other food products."

The surplus food is delivered to SOFEA by supermarket distribution centres.

The charity has tonnes of food in the warehouse which would be delivered by SOFEA's driver.

SOFEA donates to 23 charities and groups including Oxford's TRAX, which runs training for troubled youngsters, and Rose Hill Junior Youth Club.

SOFEA also runs training and support schemes itself.

Ruby Pepper, 19, from Cowley, has been working at SOFEA for one month. She said: "Its absolutely great. I work in the warehouse and also I get to work in web design three days a week."

Ms Pepper is gaining web design experience by working with Made With Joy, who design websites for charities.

SOFEA was set up last year and has worked with 60 young people and 40 adults on training programmes, helped 25 people gain their forklift licenses and shipped over 100 tonnes of food.

Environment chief discovers car is involved in VW emissions scandal

SOUTH Oxfordshire's environment chief has discovered his car is one of the millions worldwide fitted with emissions-cheating technology.

The Volkswagen emissions scandal, which surfaced two weeks ago, revealed millions of its diesel engines are fitted with a device that detects if it is being tested, and changes the car's performance to improve results.

Environment cabinet member at South Oxfordshire District Council, Tony Harbour, said he was shocked to find out on Friday his car would have to be recalled after calling his dealership.

He drives an Audi Q5 TDI, made by VW Group which owns Audi.

Cllr Harbour said: "I was concerned that I was pushing harmful gases into the atmosphere and that I wasn't made aware of it.

"I got in contact with my dealership as I wanted it sorted and was worried that I was driving a car that considering my position could be seen as double standards by residents in this area."

Cllr Harbour was told his car would still pass UK checks because they do not test for the harmful gas that the US tests rigorously check for.

But the 2013 Audi, bought last year, is still being recalled to fix the cheating software before it is returned.

Volkswagen confirmed almost 1.2million vehicles sold in the UK were affected by the emissions scandal.

Celebrating the best of Oxfordshire's hospices

By Alex Ballinger

FAMILIES and staff from Oxfordshire's four hospices joined forces for the first time on Monday to mark the work they during Hospice Care Week this week.

Oxford East MP Andrew Smith and the city's mayor Rae Humberstone were among those who attended the gathering at Helen & Douglas House in Magdalen Road.

They met and spoke with staff and patients from each hospice - Helen & Douglas House and Sobell House in Oxford, Sue Ryder in Nettlebed and Katharine House in Banbury - during the morning.

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron also aired his support for the cause by recording a video message played to the crowds.

Dr Mary Miller, the clinical lead at Sobell House Hospice in Headington, said: "We have the opportunity for the first time this year to celebrate Hospice Care Week together.

"It's a marvellous opportunity to get our message out there.

"For over 10 years we've worked together to ask 'how do we bring our expertise out into our community?'.

"We are lucky to get a huge amount of support. Please don't stop supporting us."

It costs the four hospices a combined £13 million a year to provide care to people with life shortening illnesses, and £10m has to be fundraised with the rest coming from government.

In his video message, Mr Cameron said: "Hospices are havens in our communities. They're sanctuaries and the people that work and volunteer in them are heroes and heroines.

"Hospice Care Week is an opportunity for all of us to thank you for your work. It's tough, its emotional, the hours are long, but it's vital."

Hospice Care Week is an annual celebration of the work done at hospices across the UK, and hopes to change public perceptions of hospice care.

Elysia Havard, 21, travels to Helen & Douglas House from Aylesbury on holidays including Christmas and Easter.

She said: "I think it's a great place. I come here to go shopping in Oxford and relax.

"It all started from when I was a baby. I've been in and out of hospital. I wish I was born in a healthy life."

Elysia underwent a heart and lung transplant at age five and sustained brain damage, and now suffers from kidney failure.

Indecent photos

OXFORD: A Kidlington man guilty of making almost 25,000 indecent photos of children is to be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court this month.

Wai Yin Tse, of Cromwell Way, was also convicted of having seven videos of extreme porn.

A jury unanimously found the 43-year-old guilty last Wednesday after a four day trial.

A judge is due to sentence him for the crimes on Tuesday, October 27.

Tse was arrested at his home by officers on August 30, 2013.

His computer and external digital storage devices were seized. They had tens of thousands of indecent photos of children on them as well as indecent videos of children and extreme porn.

He was charged on November 15, 2014, with nine counts which included making 24,898 indecent photos of children between November 29, 2011, and August 30, 2013.

Run or Dye

OXON: Fundraisers from The Oxford Belfry hotel raised £650 for Oxford's Helen and Douglas House hospice in the 'Run or Dye' event at Cornbury Park on September 26.

The 12-person team from the Thame-based hotel were among the runners taking on 5k while being showered in dye.

Lucky Clover rehomed by vet who saved her

A DOG who was rescued after being found with her muzzle taped up so tight it was bleeding has been rehomed with the vet who saved her life.

Clover was found near Faringdon before being rushed to a vet for emergency treatment on August 15.

After six weeks of treatment later the young female whippet was was adopted by her vet, Tanya – who doesn't want her surname revealed.

By Alexander Ballinger

Tanya said: "It really is amazing how far she has come since she first arrived. She's gone from a subdued, sad dog to a loving, loyal and warm girl that is so trusting of people – against all odds.

"She is even helping to grow the confidence of my other dog – also a rescue – and they have become the best of friends over the last few weeks."

• Clover when she was found near Faringdon seven weeks ago

Clover was found wandering the streets alone near Puddle Duck Lane in Great Coxwell when she was discovered by residents who called the RSPCA for help.

Tanya added: "Initially I took her home with me as her injuries were so horrific that she needed round the clock care, and she quickly stole my heart.

"There were moments in her journey where the team and I really thought she might not make it, but I was determined to save her."

Her muzzle is believed to have been taped for about 48 hours and had been wrapped on so tightly that the blood supply to her nose had been cut off.

Clover also had an inch long wound on her leg so deep it needed stapling together.

RSPCA inspector Sharon Chrisp said: "Clover's story is one of a true survivor and it touched so many people right across the country.

"We would really just like to say a massive thank you to everyone who offered their help, support, and who donated towards her amazing recover – it has not been in vain and she now will get the life she truly deserves in a loving and very special new home."

Hospitals win status to use own profits

OXFORD University Hospitals will now be able to invest any profit they make back into their own services after being granted NHS Foundation Trust status last week.

NHS regulator in England, Monitor, granted the status at a meeting last Wednesday that will see it held accountable to them rather than the Department of Health and NHS England.

Oxford University Hospitals is comprised of the John Radcliffe Hospital, Nuffield Orthopaedic Centre, all in Headington, and the Churchill Hospital and the Horton General Hospital in Banbury.

Instead of returning profits to the Department of Health, the protocol when it was an NHS Trust, money will be pumped into its own services.

Sir Jonathan Michael, Chief Executive of Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, said: "The work we have done to become a foundation trust has involved a journey of improvement that needed to happen anyway."

Trust chairman Dame Fiona Caldicott said: "Becoming a Foundation Trust is recognition of the work we have done to improve."

It will have a new council of governors to hold the trust's board of directors to account.

Charity founder father and son's fundraising feat

• Isaac, 15, with his dad Patrick McDonald, 41

By Loughlan Campbell

THE founder of an Oxford children's charity and his teenage son are getting set to plunge 160-foot in a harness above London's O2 Arena to fundraise for the charity.

Patrick McDonald, 41, and Isaac, 15, are bungee jumping from a crane at the Thames-side dome in aid of Viva, which Patrick founded in Oxford in 1996.

Mr McDonald, from Cumnor, told the Guardian: "I'm pretty petrified about it and I will be much happier to be on the other side.

"I think it's complete madness we're doing it if I'm honest. It's just one of those things that we wanted to do something amazing for Viva and we love doing activities together, we're pretty close."

He set up the Marston Street charity in 1996 after working with street children in Bolivia and was chief executive for 16 years.

Viva works in 22 countries worldwide helping children by setting up support networks.

Mr McDonald added: "Fear is ugly. I have often seen children full of fear. Fear of being beaten; fear of bosses; fear of what others think; fear of not belonging.

"Viva works with vulnerable children so that they no longer have to be afraid. Its main aim is to provide help to those that take the time out to look after children desperately in need."

He and Isaac are hoping to fundraise £1,500 for the charity and have already raised more than £800.

Mr McDonald is now a senior partner at social innovation firm, Oxford Ventures.

He has previously faced a similarly daring feat, skydiving from 12,000 feet above Kent to raise £15,000 for a Viva's campaign called 'who cares?' in July 2013.

Isaac was too young to make the jump so Mr McDonald promised his son he could join him in fundraising now he's old enough.

New electric bikes

OXFORD: New electric bikes have been handed to the city to expand Oxford's bike hire scheme.

The Department for Transport gave the 16 new electric bikes to Oxfordshire County Council to hire out alongside its 52 bikes stationed at 11 points across the city.

The electric bikes, which have small electric motors to boost the riders' pedal power, will be placed in Headington and East Oxford.

Schools results up

OXON: Reading, writing and maths test results are up among seven-year-olds in the county, Oxfordshire County Council announced last week.

It means Oxfordshire is above the national average for Level 2+ grade in Key Stage One reading and maths tests, and about average for writing. This year 92 per cent of students achieved the grade in reading, 86 per cent in writing and 94 per cent in maths.

These are up by two per cent in each subject.

School admissions

OXON: Parents can now make applications for their children to start Oxfordshire primary or secondary schools next September.

The applications, which must be made via Oxfordshire County Council's website or by post, give parents the option to state three preferences choices for school

The deadline for primary and junior school applications is January 15 and for secondary school applications is November 2.

Oxford hit-and-run car is found burnt out near Wallingford

A BURNT-out car abandoned near Wallingford last Monday is believed to have been the car used in a hit-and-run in Blackbird Leys three days earlier.

Police launched a re-appeal on Thursday for information after discovering the fire-damaged vehicle in Burcot Lane, Berinsfield.

They believe it was the light coloured car that hit an 18-year-old man using a pedestrian crossing in Blackbird Leys Road at 4pm on Friday, September 25.

The man, who suffered head and limb injuries, has since been discharged from hospital.

Investigating officer, Sergeant Beth Walton of the Serious Case Investigation Unit based in Bicester, said: "I would appeal to anyone who saw a light coloured vehicle in Burcot Lane, Wallingford, between Friday evening and Monday evening to contact police."

The driver stopped the car further along the road just after the collision between Balfour Road and Sandy Lane West, but then drove off towards Cowley.

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 101.

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Comic looking for 'Help' rewriting the rulebook

NORTHERN Irish comedian and TV presenter Patrick Kielty arrives at the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot next week in need of help.

By James Richings

The 44-year-old entertainer's 'Help' tour visits the Station Road venue on Sunday, October 18, where he will be attempting to write a rulebook that focuses on love, life and happiness with suggestions from the audience.

"I hope audiences leave the show saying 'I've seen him on TV and heard him on the radio but I didn't realise that in his stand-up he lays it all out there'. It's very important as a stand-up to have something to say," Patrick explained.

"Audiences don't want to just hear gags.

"They want to know that what you're talking about, they can relate to.

"I'm saying 'this is my personal, honest story', and the audience like that. So I'm thrilled to be touring again."

Patrick's big break came as a presenter on a number of different shows in Northern Ireland.

He won the 'Best Newcomer Award' at the 1996 Royal Television Society Awards, and was soon headhunted by various London-based broadcasters.

Patrick fronted 'Fame Academy' and 'Stand-up of the Week', as well as Comic and Sport Relief features.

But comedy was something Patrick wants to focus on

"Essentially I'm saying 'OK guys, things are going very well, but what could potentially go wrong for me? Is there any advice you can give me?' That's the idea for the show," he said.

"I'd rather do that than be sucked into being someone who pays £300 an hour to lie on a sofa and tell someone my problems!"

He added: "As a stand-up, you have to be honest enough to talk about what's going on in your life, and you can't fake it.

"There is only a quarter of an inch of microphone cable between you and the audience and you're saying to them, 'I think this is funny - what do you think?'"

The gig is suitable for over 18s and starts at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost £17.

Clowning around

FOR these guys clowning around is all part of the nine to five.

Simone Fassari and Camilla Pessi will be bringing their type of tomfoolery to the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot tonight, October 8.

The double act will show off their skills and blend of juggling and acrobatics for their 'Pss Pss' show.

"For us, the tricks and gags all stem from something subtle between us, the emotional state we are exploring and the deliciousness of the awkwardness that we have as human beings," said Camilla.

"We love this awkwardness. It's so funny, isn't it?

"And for the show, the characters we play came to us.

"They came from who we are and from how we feel in the world, but of course we are very inspired by Keaton and Chaplin and their physical humour."

The show has no dialogue but instead uses exaggerated body language and facial expressions for the characters to communicate.

And despite the large bouts of slapstick comedy included in 'Pss Pss', the production has a storyline which focuses on the seriousness, innocence, and unkindness of childhood.

By James Richings

The unique production has become a global hit, and the UK is just one of many stops the performers are making in their world tour.

"The reaction often depends on what country we're in – it's sometimes really loud with roaring laughter, other times really quiet and moved," Simone said.

"Our best audiences are with the adults as they love to return to a state of innocence and hysterics."

Simone added: "I think the reason why 'Pss Pss' is liked in many different countries is because in the show, we start from one simple truth which turns out is shared across a number of cultures - we all feel totally shy and useless!"

Tickets for the show cost £15, £13.50 for concessions and £10 for anyone under the age of 16.

It starts at 7.30pm and is suitable for anyone over the age of six. Visit cornerstone-arts.org for more details.

London band takes the Bullingdon by its horns

FOUR lads are gearing up to make a good first impression when they visit The Bullingdon in Oxford this Saturday, October 10.

By James Richings

Alternative rock group Gengahr, made up of Hugh Schulte (bass), John Victor (guitar and keyboard), Danny Ward (drums and vocals) and Felix Bushe (guitar and vocals) will visit the Cowley Road venue off the back of their debut album 'A Dream Outside' being released this year.

"I had a quick look on Google to double check if we'd been there before but all I could find were pictures of David Cameron and his mates. I'm assuming we are playing a different Bullingdon," Felix told the Guardian.

"We tend to inject a little extra energy into the songs when we are live and everything becomes more dynamic and boisterous.

"We also have some new songs that we will be performing for the first time so that's quite exciting for us. It's our first ever headline tour and we really want it to be one to remember."

Named after Gengar, a creature in the Pokémon series, the friends were all in different bands before they settled as an alternative rock group in 2013.

The last two years have seen them write fresh material, experiment with different sounds and get their name out into the music scene.

They are nearly halfway through their first UK tour, running throughout this month.

And it finishes just two days before they embark on a monstrous run of shows across the rest of Europe.

Felix believes the two tours will put the band on the map.

"This is really just the start for us and the fact that it is our first ever headline tour obviously makes it a really special one for all of us," he said.

"It's a really exciting time as the album is out there for everyone to hear, and we can't wait to get back on the road and start the tour.

"We love playing live and it's a real privilege to get to travel to different cities each day and share our music with everyone."

Doors at the Cowley Road venue open at 7pm, and tickets cost £9.

CITRIC ACID
Citric Acid is a pithily absurdist satire of the hipster generation by students Mina Ebtehadj- Marquis and Alex Newton.
Meet Alice and Ben, two twenty-something university graduates who feel lost in a big wide world. Can setting up a lemonade stand in Shoreditch give their lives some purpose?
Or will the bizarre clientele who descend looking for overpriced, gluten-free lemonade (from alcoholic businessmen to Karl

PAUL POTTS
Winner of Britain's Got Talent Season One, Paul found global success with his albums, live shows and tours, impressing audiences worldwide with his powerful yet emotive operatic performances.
Six years later, and his feet are yet to touch the ground. Paul has already performed more live shows than any other contestant from a talent search programme, whilst in recognition of Paul's meteoric 'rags to riches' rise to fame, his life story has been turned into a film also entitled One Chance and stars award-winning comedian James Corden.
Joining Paul is special guest Catriona Murray, a classical soprano from Nottingham. Discovered earlier this year by Britain's Got Talent winner Jamie Lambert, Catriona has begun work on compiling a solo album and has a string of concerts lined up for the summer season.
Paul Potts is once again set to remind audiences of his inspiring charm and rich, mellifluous classical prowess, complemented by Catriona Murray – a new generation of exceptional talent.

GORDON CORERA
Like a cyber-James Bond, the computer was born to spy. The work of Alan Turing led to the birth of electronic espionage. In the following decades, computers transformed intelligence from the spy hunting of the Cold War years to the data-driven pursuit of terrorists and the corporate cyber-espionage of the 21st century.
Drawing on unique access to Western intelligence agencies and insights into the most powerful technology companies, BBC Security Correspondent Gordon Corera explores the new space in which the worlds of espionage, diplomacy, international business and technology collide.
Introduced by journalist and broadcaster Quentin Cooper.

This is a unique performance designed to appeal to all the family and definitely not to be missed.

DICKENS ABRIDGED
From Adam Long, founding member of The Reduced Shakespeare Company and co-creator of The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) comes Dickens Abridged – a fast-paced musical comedy. An absurdly talented cast of four brings hundreds of the great author's best-loved characters to life in 70 minutes of madcap Dickensian mayhem.

SEAN HUGHES: MUMBO JUMBO
Multi award winning comedian Sean Hughes is back with a new show called Mumbo Jumbo. Throughout his life he has been battling to stay on the right side of sanity. This is because in middle age he has realised that the two sides of his brain are in constant conflict. There is common sense against mumbo jumbo and mumbo jumbo seems to have the upper hand. The show consists of stories including being serenaded at the break of dawn by Robert Smith, trekking mountain gorillas in Rwanda and coming to the conclusion that he will never have a proper conversation with his dear mum. There will be a few poems and a 3-minute musical about ageing too.

WILD PONIES
Wild Ponies offer dead right, honest songwriting. Headed up by Doug & Telicha Williams, their most recent album 'Things That Used to Shine' garnered widespread critical acclaim, spent 6 weeks in the top 20 of the Americana Music Association Radio chart, and over 20 weeks in the top 40.

DART
I'm looking for what is the 'I' of a landscape, what is the changeable part that brings it alive, and it's always water.
Adapted for the stage from Alice Oswald's award-winning poem, DART gives voice to the River Dart as it flows across Devon from source to sea.
Using words from the people who live and work alongside the river, this piece portrays characters from the mythical and mundane, carrying the audience on a charming journey downstream.
This exciting student show blends sound, film and illustration into a performance that will immerse you in the sights and sounds of the Dart.

Tues, Nov 17 – Sat, Nov 21
Oxford Playhouse, Oxford
FREAK
I feel wasted. Not wasted drunk, but wasted unused. Celibate. Wretched.
Enter the world of Leah and Georgie: two women discovering the boundaries of their sexuality, saying everything about sex that we all think but never dare to express. Freak is a frank exploration of the intense power and vulnerability of female sexuality. A fresh production of student and prize-winning playwright Anna Jordan's 2014 play that promises to shock and excite. Freak is enticing, daring, and desperately funny.

CALAN
Fiddles, guitar, accordion, bagpipes and step dancing explode into life as Calan perform songs and tunes from their 2015 release Dinas. Infectious guitar rhythms and high-voltage routines give way to beautiful and haunting songs. Calan bring together the remarkable talents of five young musicians to give a fresh and vibrant sound to traditional Welsh music.
With a contemporary and lively approach, they breathe new life into the old traditions through their sparkling melodies, foot tapping tunes and spirited and energetic performances of Welsh step dancing.

PUSSYFOOTING
A young girl squares up to a dragon. A small boy packs away his skirts. An advert tells us what to be at any cost.
Drawing on our culture's wildly varied presentations of women, this is a fearsome journey through society's wild patchwork of performed femininity.
Devised by Knotworks, an exciting new student ensemble, this is a politicised, tender and funny look at modern womanhood in all its forms.
Be warned: despite the name Pussyfooting does not tread lightly.

New Renault Mégane breaks the mould with new design

• The new Renault Mégane IV

LAUNCHED at this year's International Motor Show in Germany, the new Renault Mégane is heading to the UK to go on sale next year.

REVIEW: Renault Mégane IV

By James Richings

It will be the model's fourth generation since it was first introduced in 1995.

The latest edition has C-shaped headlamps at the front that border into the bumper.

The lights at the rear have also been restyled to stretch across the car.

"On a highly competitive market for compact saloons, it was vital that new Mégane should stand out right from first glance", exterior designer Franck Le Gall said.

"The precise, taut lines which draw the whole design towards the front, are part of the side surfaces and this is with the combination of the sculpted shoulders

"These lines give the new Mégane dynamism and character."

Compared to the third generation Mégane, the tracking is 47mm wider, and the car is 25mm lower at the front and 39mm wider at the rear.

And designers have opted for a chrome belt line and changes to the car's grille, side badges and door handles.

The launch will also offer up the new Renault Mégane GT with a much sportier design with a different looking bumper which has a broader air intake and a honeycomb shaped grill design.

At the back, it has two chromed tailpipes that echo the air scoops at the front and framing a spoiler inspired by the world of F1.

The GT model also comes with 18-inch aluminium wheels.

The Oxford branch is one of seven sales sites operated by Fence Stores. We sell a full range of Fencing, Decking and Garden buildings, much of which is produced in our own workshops. The successful applicant will be dealing with customers on a daily basis and dealing with more detailed sales of Log cabins and commercial fencing. All training will be provided, however, a merchant, or sales background would be ideal as we are looking to bring in experience into the company.

Remuneration will be based on experience.

If you feel you have what we need to help grow our company then please, email your C.V, or apply in writing, to

Roofe double fires U's past their old rivals

By Loughlan Campbell

KEMAR Roofe proved to be the hero for Oxford United as they overcame their old rivals Swindon Town to make it five wins in a row with a 2-0 win in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy at the Kassam Stadium on Tuesday.

The Kassam was bouncing off its hinges with just over 9,000 fans witness to a game that saw Swindon's Jordan Turnbull sent off in the first half hour, with Roofe scoring either side of half-time to seal the victory for Michael Appleton's side.

The game started off heated, and Turnbull lashed out on the half hour mark, kicking United defender Jake Wright and referee Gavin Ward giving him a straight red card.

Swindon dropped men behind the ball with the Yellows dominating, leading to United's opener as Ryan Taylor barrelled forward and Roofe picked up the ball, turned and placed it into the net in 41st minute.

Wolves' loanee Jordan Graham, making his full debut for United, nearly made it two before the whistle with a shot from 20 yards that Vigouroux managed to get his fingertips to in order to keep his side in the game.

After the break, the Robins were made to look far inferior and United ran mayhem in their half, with Graham and Baldock dominating the Oxford right wing.

The second goal came from a cross down the right with Taylor nodding the ball into the path of Roofe behind him, who knocked it in to score his eighth goal in all competitions this season.

Swindon were then further afflicted by Bradley Barry's unfortunate injury which called time on the game for 10 minutes.

Barry had to be taken off on a stretcher, to applause from both sets of fans.

After the delay United never quite got their game going again, but it was already too late for Swindon as the League One side went the entire game without having a shot on target.

United are now in the area quarter finals and one step closer to Wembley.

Late try kills off Chinnor

IT wasn't to be for Chinnor on Saturday as a last-minute try handed them a defeat to Dorking in a 30-27 result in the National League 2 South.

Full back Bertie Hopkin sent Chinnor on their way early on with a penalty before Kariym Irving's unconverted try.

Chinnor then went in front with James Tyas and Joe Vandermolen crossing for the side with Hopkin converting both efforts.

However, Dorking soon hit back and managed to cut down Chinnor's lead to 17-15 with Chinnor's Will Millett sin binned by the referee for an illegal tackle in the air.

The score then went to 20-15 following Chinnor staring the second half on the front foot and Hopkin scored a penalty.

The hosts then went on to take a 25-20 lead after they hit back through Cameron Pinlow and Zach Woodcock's unconverted tries.

Jamie Townsend then went over and Hopkin converted for 27-25 with Chinnor heading into the final minutes looking strong for the win.

However, Chinnor's victory was taken from them at the last minute as Dorking intercepted a Chinnor attack and Irving touched down to give the win to Dorking as he completed his hat trick.

Chapman targets podium place in the season finale

OXFORD'S Matt Chapman has said he is on a mission to get to the podium the first time this season in Ginetta Junior Championship podium.

The Total Control Racing driver is set to take to the track at Brands Hatch Grand Prix Circuit for the Championship finale.

The 15-year-old Oxford teenager's highest finish was fifth at Knockhill in Scotland and Chapman is determined to secure his personal best result come Sunday.

He said ahead of the race: "I went pretty well on the GP track last year, and it's a fantastic circuit to drive, so I'm confident we should be able to end the season with a strong performance.

"I'm on a bit of a mission to get on the podium, it's been possible so many times this season but something has gone against us each time."

Chapman heads into the finale holding eleventh in the standings, 23 points of the top ten.

Besides his finish at Knockhill, he also has three top sixes and five more top ten results under his belt .

The final race of the season, which is round 20 of the Championship, will begin at 12.10pm this Sunday and will be screened live on ITV4 for viewers.

City's winning form continues in 4-0 rout

By Loughlan Campbell

OXFORD City knocked four past Chelmsford City to keep their place as second in the National League South on Saturday.

Goals from Bradley Bubb, Kynan Isaac, Luke Coulson and Julen Lafuente put Chelmsford to the sword as Oxford ran riot in the 4-0 win.

Chelmsford's Tomi Adeloye started brightly and came up with the hosts' first two chances before Oxford managed to slowly get back into the game with Darren Pond firing wide.

Bradley Bubb then fired two efforts at the goal in quick succession but Chelmsford's Christian Diddle kept Bubb at bay.

Bubb should have put Oxford in front shortly afterwards when he rushed through on goal but he couldn't bury the chance when one-on-one with the 'keeper.

It was all to play for as both sides headed out for the second half and Oxford seized their chance with Rob Girdlestone alleged to have tripped Isaac in the area and Bubb fired in his seventh of the season.

The game became stretched as both sides attempted to gain a greater holding in the game but Oxford proved too strong for Chelmsford to break down.

On 74 minutes, it was then two for Oxford when Omari Sterling-James released Isaac through on goal and he coolly slotted home.

Isaac was then forced off injured following his goal but Oxford were on a roll and Coulson made it three after he tapped in from close range following a skillful turn in the box.

Lafuente rounded out the scoring after he sprung the offside trap perfectly and he was able to smash the ball home to secure Oxford's fourth win in their last five games and continue their unbeaten run to eight games in all competitions.

Up next for Justin Merritt's boys is a trip to Bognor Regis Town in the FA Cup on Saturday.

Merritt's men are now six points behind Ebbsfleet United at the top of the National League South and time will tell if they have the form to carry them into the National League Premier.

Sport Bites

Oxon wins

RUGBY: Didcot beat Alchester 12-11 in the first round of the Oxfordshire Shield with a last kick of the match from Josh Witts in the BB&O Championship.

In the other games, Wheatley beat Oxford 56-12 with Luke Agius, Jack Atkinson and Josh Hillson all touching down.

The sides are set to face off against each other in the Oxfordshire Shield on November 28.

Ladies off the mark in season

HOCKEY: Oxford Ladies 1sts enjoyed their first win of the season with a comfortable 5-1 victory over Marlow on Saturday.

Kim Haynes and Catherine Reaney both got a brace for Oxford whilst Holly Turner finished the scoring off.

Meanwhile, Andy Wynd scored a hat-trick as Oxford Men's 1st's beat Oxford 2nd's 4-0 in the league, with Dan Bleach also scoring.

Manager returns

FOOTBALL: Kidlington's assistant manager, Julian McCalmon has signed back on as a player to help his side deal with injuries.

Kidlington are currently dealing with a handful of team injuries but have won their last two games, beating Holyport 2-1 on Tuesday and winning 4-1 over Longlevens last Tuesday.

The team face Binfield in the Hellenic Premier League on Saturday.

Wantage bow out of trophy

WANTAGE were dumped out of the FA Trophy Cup in a gripping encounter against Marlow FC, which saw Daniel Barry's side lose 5-2 at Alfredian Park.

Jamal Branker slid home the opener for Marlow to take the lead before Chris Ovenden got his head to a cross to make it two.

Barry's side came charging back and in the 28th minute found a response through Aaron Ferris who tapped the ball home from Ben Whitehead's cross.

Just ten minutes later, Marlow replied and Devontae Romeo was able to add a third for Marlow.

Ben Whitehead then gave Freds fans hope capitalising on the Marlow 'keeper making a howler to make the score 3-2.

Marlow restored their two-goal lead with Otudeko striking in a rebound after a Cavanagh save.

The visitors then capitalised on poor defending with a cross from the right wing from Branker finding Ashley Watkins, whose shot beat Cavanagh.

Williams stuns with first half hat-trick

MORGAN Williams underlined his credentials for North Leigh with a first half hat trick as the Millers sailed into the next round of the FA Trophy with a 4-2 win over Bishops Cleeve.

Jamie Cook headed the line for the Millers and Leigh's passing game was on point from the off and the Millers took the lead on nine minutes with Williams curling a shot over the wall into the net.

Just five minutes after, things were all square as Harlie Price's free kick of a similar distance crept past the edge of the wall and unsighted James Foster to make it 1-1.

Aaron Woodley restored Leigh's advantage on 25 minutes as he ran into the box through the static defenders, latching on to Jamie Cook's ball.

Williams then repeated his magic touch after he curled in another free kick on 42 minutes after Wayne Turk was brought down in a position close to the box.

Just before the break, the match rained goals, with Williams running on to a Woodley pass to strike a shot past the keeper before Cleeve hit back through Price who hammered a volley past James Foster in.

The second half saw no other goals as both sides fought to keep hold of the ball.

Walkinshaw takes home fifth in Misano

CHIPPING Norton-based Sean Walkinshaw secured a top five finish with his teammate Craig Dolby as the Always Evolving Motorsport pairing came home from Misano at the weekend without any silverware.

The duo secured the fifth place finish in the main race on Sunday with duo securing the second fastest time in qualifying ahead of the race and recorded the fastest lap throughout the race.

• Walkinshaw racing in Misano

The teammates ended the penultimate race of the Blancpain Sprint Series in 10th position in the championship, just five points shy of the top eight.

Sean said after the race: "We lost the chance of the podium but everyone could see what the car was capable of.

"The team are just getting better and better every weekend, they're all working really, really hard and making big steps forward."

Dolby secured the team's fifth place position in lap 26 of the race with a bold passing move but try as he might he couldn't beat Valdeno Brito in order to get into fourth.

The two cars were glued together for the final lap but Brito managed to take fourth by a matter of 0.3 seconds.

The Blancpain Sprint Series will finish off at the Zandvoorty in the Netherlands on Sunday.

Stars clinch new signing after big win

OXFORD City Stars announced the signing of Slovakian defenceman Boris Ruzicka ahead of their 5-4 win over Solent Devils in an enticing encounter at Oxpens Road on Sunday.

However, the defenceman couldn't feature in the game on Sunday as the paperwork was not through in time for him to feature in the contest.

Boris has previously plied his trade in Slovakia and he also had a brief spell in the Czech Republic as well as in Romania.

He joins the Stars from Romanian team Progym Gheorheni and is set to feature in the Stars' double-header against Cardiff Devils and the Streatham Redskins this weekend.

Head coach Simon Anderson said of the capture: "I have thought long and hard about our import situation and what would be the best way forward. Boris is a big unit, who will not only give us a presence but some experience as well."

"At 27, he is still in his prime and he's also really experienced, which will help our back end out this season.

"I think it's pretty obvious that we struggle moving the puck from our end and Boris will do that, as well as help our transition game and power play."

The Stars also announced they are looking to bring in another forward and build on their strong start to the season.

BINFIELD BASH FOUR PAST UNITED IN ROUT

Alman's men extend goal scoring drought to three matches

IT was more misery for Abingdon United on Saturday as they fell to a 4-0 defeat at Binfield, making it 270 minutes of play without scoring.

Steve Alman's side fell to their third consecutive defeat at the weekend, conceding 13 goals in three games.

United managed to hold their own in the game for the first 10 minutes, before the home side broke with pace and Liam Ferdinand was allowed to stroll through and open the scoring for the side.

Abingdon's keeper Tom Plumridge got down well to block a deflected effort shortly afterwards, before the U's nearly found an equaliser at the other end.

Plumridge then made a superb save to deny Binfield their second as he flung himself to the left to force the ball over the bar after Josh Howell unleashed a belter from 20 yards.

United's Tony Booker then hobbled off with 40 minutes played after he stretched and twisted his knee blocking a shot off the line.

Binfield got their second of the day in the 53rd minute when Lewis Leonnetti raced through on goal and dinked the ball in.

By Loughlan Campbell

Plumridge was once again forced to come to United's rescue as he blocked Josh Pearson's effort with his body, before denying Danny Horscroft straight afterwards.

United managed to hold out for most of the second half but with 10 minutes to go, the flood gates opened.

Jemel Johnson finally got the better of Plumridge, sweeping a ball in from Pearson past the flailing keeper, who then conceded again shortly afterwards with Horscroft powering a header from a cross coming from the right.

Jamie Essex nearly struck back for Abingdon when he let fly from 20 yards and beat the keeper, but his ball struck the far post and United were left walking off the field glum with disappointment.

Abingdon were in action against Oxford City Nomads last night as the Oxfordshire Guardian went to press.

They are then set to face off against Hellenic Premier League bottom side Wokingham and Emmbrook at the Northcourt on Saturday afternoon.
